

THE REAL TRUTH:

The Santa Ynez Band of Chumash Indians is building a solid economic base for future generations of our tribe.

ENSURING OUR STRONG ECONOMIC FUTURE

It's insulting when tribal opponents tell us that we have made enough money or insinuate that we no longer need to look at future economic development opportunities. Not only does this suggest that Native Americans should limit their dreams and economic growth, but it ignores the basic tenets of capitalism and economic diversification.

The reality is that our tribe will continue to work hard to ensure that future generations of our people are on solid economic ground.

For our tribe, economic self-sufficiency means ensuring that future generations are economically secure.

*Working hard today
to ensure that the tribe remains on solid economic ground for the future.*
